- Defining accessible theatre-making

A ONE-DAY CONFERENCE RAISING QUESTIONS & EXPLORING ARTS PRACTICE ENABLING ACCESSIBLE THEATRE-MAKING. WHAT ARE THE OPPORTUNITIES? WHAT ARE THE BARRIERS THAT PREVENT ACCESSIBILITY?

Off The Page marks the work over the past three years undertaken by the Half Moon Young People's Theatre, developing collaborative ways of making theatre accessible with young people with physical disabilities and sensory impairments. The conference is an opportunity to open the debate and highlight ways forward for making theatre accessible. The day will explore the producing of theatre and performance, training and employment opportunities.

PRACTITIONERS FROM THE FOLLOWING COMPANIES WILL PRESENT AND SHARE THEIR METHODOLOGIES AND STRATEGIES:

CandoCo Dance Company
Daryl Beeton, Actor & formerly with Theatre Workshop.
Ewan Marshall, Director
Forced Entertainment
Graeae Theatre Company
London Arts
Royal Court Theatre (Young Writer's Programme)

“Actors with widely differing physical and sensory impairments constantly force me to challenge assumptions and abandon methods used in the past. I pursue specific and relevant ways of working, channelling the vitality of these different styles, which I would pursue with any actor, regardless of their disability.”

EWAN MARSHALL,
